1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

De Bortoli Wines has been a signatory of the National Packaging Covenant since 2002.

The introduction of the new covenant in 2010 has resulted in the need to produce a new action plan. The De Bortoli Wines plan has considered all aspects of the new covenant and produced actions for all areas where De Bortoli Wines can see an opportunity for change.

The introduction of the lean and green bottle as well as proposed investigations into alternative packaging indicates that the next several years will be exciting for the company.

De Bortoli Wines believes that any actions that can result in less use of resources or the reuse of a resource can only be of benefit for the whole community. The actions and programs that have been employed over the last several years has resulted in De Bortoli Wines receiving the sustainability award 2011 from the Drinks Business Green Awards (Appendix I) held in London March 7, 2011.

2. BACKGROUND

2.1 National Packaging Covenant Background

De Bortoli Wines is a family operated wine company. It was established in 1928 and in that time has grown to be one of Australia's premier wine companies.

De Bortoli Wines has been a signatory to the National Packaging Covenant since 2002. During this time De Bortoli Wines has made significant changes to their packaging and recycle initiatives at their sites.

2.2 Period of the Action Plan

This action plan is for the period from July 2010 to June 2015. Reporting will be annually by financial year. De Bortoli Wines will report against both its action plan and the covenant KPI's. The action plan shall be reviewed as required and updated as covenant or company direction changes.

2.3 Company Profile

Family owned De Bortoli Wines is one of Australia's largest private wine companies. From vineyards throughout Victoria and New South Wales a wide range of premium wines is produced including red and white varietal wines, sparkling wines, fortified wines and the iconic Noble One Botrytis Semillon, Australia's benchmark sweet white.

Established in 1928 by Vittorio & Giuseppina De Bortoli, the company was expanded by their son, the visionary Deen De Bortoli. Today the company is in the capable hands of the third generation. For more than 75 years the family tradition of sharing good wine, good food and good times with family and friends remains unchanged.

De Bortoli Wines is the second largest family owned wine company in Australia and packages 45-60 million litres of wine per annum. Greater than 50% of the packaged product is sold and consumed within Australia.

The company is classified as a brand owner under the covenant classification.

3.2 De Bortoli Wines - Risk Management Policy

De Bortoli Wines

RISK MANAGEMENT POLICY

The De Bortoli family aim is to create a resilient long-term business with a zero harm or injury target. A workplace culture of integrity and flexibility with a strong sense of community and openness, where all staff act ethically, manage business risks appropriately and always seek to improve the business, forms the foundation of this business model. All staff must understand the legal framework within which they work and the potential risks to which both the business and they themselves are exposed and that they are empowered to manage those risks.

The De Bortoli Family Motto: Sempa Ad Majora - "Always striving for better"

Our process is to:

- Identify the legal and regulatory frameworks within which we operate.
- Meet or exceed legal and regulatory requirements in the markets in which we operate.
- Identify and document the risk profiles of our business activities, then declare how we will manage those risks..
- Set and meet targets of zero harm or injury.
- Provide the appropriate training and hold people accountable in these activities.
- Test, Measure and Audit our business activities.
- Obtain third party certification as appropriate.
- Maintain a Risk Management System.

The Standards to which we intend to operate.

The Risk Management System intended to meet the core requirements of the following:

Risk Management

- All De Bortoli Sites are to maintain a risk management system and are encouraged to extend on the minimum requirements of the risk management system commensurate with the risk profile of their business activities^[1].

Quality and Food Safety

6. PACKAGING REVIEW.

6.1 Categorisation of finished packages.

De Bortoli Wines is in the process of reviewing all products lines to meet the requirements of the packaging covenant. This review will encompass the mechanism to audit all products against the Sustainable Packaging Guidelines. Time frame for review and implementation is in the Action Plan (6.2).

6.2 Action Plan 2010- 2015.

An action plan has been developed that encompasses the aims of the packaging covenant. The plan centres around a total review of all packaging with respect to environment and ease of recycling. The action plan will be driven through the De Bortoli Wines new product development review system.

De Bortoli Wines has been a covenant signatory since 2002 and in the time has achieved savings through changes to packaging as well as driving change in recycling with in the winery. This along with a training program on recycling and the environment has resulted in a culture change where employees are proactive in the re-use, reduction or recovery of resources.

Appendix I: Media Release Drinks Business 2011 Sustainability Award

DE BORTOLI WINES

MEDIA RELEASE: March 11, 2011

De Bortoli Wines Win International Sustainability Award

Australian family winery, De Bortoli has received international recognition as a leader in sustainability, winning the 'Sustainability Award' at 'The Drinks Business Green Awards 2011' held in London on March 7.

'The Drinks Business Green Awards' are the initiative of Europe's leading drinks trade publication and is the first ever program for the global drinks trade to raise awareness of green issues and reward environmental and ethical leadership worldwide. It also aims to emphasise the vital role of sustainability in the development of the drinks industry.

De Bortoli Wines triumphed over three other international finalists, with the judges remarking that De Bortoli stood out for putting sustainability at the forefront of their business activity whilst also confidently grasping specific regional issues. On De Bortoli's submission, the judges' commented: "Most notably they achieved a 40% reduction in landfill waste and their aeration system won praise for being a relatively inexpensive initiative within the reach of other producers and one which could make a real impact if adopted more widely."

De Bortoli's Managing Director, Darren De Bortoli says the award pays tribute to the company's unwavering commitment to driving sustainability, identifying that in Australia changes to weather patterns attributed to climate change, record droughts, a growing population and serious river degradation and salinity issues all signal an urgent imperative to adopt environmentally sustainable practices. He says: "For a family-owned company looking to create a sustainable business for future generations, reducing our carbon footprint has become an integral part of the De Bortoli vision and philosophy. Our future lies in looking after the health of our soils and vines and managing precious resources"

Steve Webber, Chief Winemaker echoes those sentiments adding that the business is committed to championing sustainable vineyard practises as they deliver both exceptional fruit quality and real environmental benefits. He says: "De Bortoli wines have made a serious commitment to the environment, going well beyond mandatory requirements by adopting a wide range of innovative programs and practises. These encompass water management, biological farming and packaging and waste management. Our ultimate goal is to be 'The Zero Waste Wine Company'"

Upon winning the award, Webber acknowledged the work of his wider team. He said: "Winning this award helps us to highlight the movements De Bortoli is making towards becoming a sustainable company - at De Bortoli we are always striving for better."

Appendix III Lean and Green Bottle Changeover Proposal

Proposal:

Bottle consolidation to NNPB and removal of all dividers in cartons

Proposed by: Petra Suelmann

Date: 18 November 2010

Background:

NNPB stands for Narrow Neck Press and Blow. This bottle is also called the Lean & Green bottle as it is around 38grams lighter than a puncted claret but has the same height. It is currently used for Accomplice SSB (divider-less) and SH Syrah Dolcetto.

Wines:

All base wines (SH and below) eg. VW, SH, Accomplice

Glass options – proposed:

- Puncted Claret NNPB Arctic Blue
- Puncted Claret NNPB Antique Green
- Puncted Claret NNPB French Green
- Puncted Claret NNPB Flint

- 30-53057018
- 30-5305703
- 30-5305709
- 30-5305701

Estimated cost saving (see extract – confidential):

Reduced: Bottle component cost
 Line changeover cost
 Freight cost (finished and component items)
 Divider component cost
Increased: Line speed
 Carton re-sizing cost

Pros:

1. Reduced product complexity
2. Reduced cost (see extract)
3. Potential increased line speed of 10% (for claret shape)
4. Reduced carbon footprint and packaging material (National Packaging Covenant)
5. Reduced component holdings and obsolescence (reduction from 18 down to 4 bottle types)
6. Reduced packaging line O&M risks (RSI) – one FTE placing dividers into cartons
7. Pre-req to carton standardisation project aimed to →
 Reduce set up costs
 Reduce artwork cost
 Reduce component holding and obsolescence cost
 Create ability to print mandatory and barcode information directly onto product during packaging
 Reduce mfg leadtimes

Cons:

1. Customer negotiations to change over from puncted bottles to L&G bottles (LW glass customers will get added benefit at no cost > 4M bottles)

Pre-req:

NNPB bottle availability 11,4M units converted into →

287,000 NNPB FL
 2,780,000 NNPB AG
 1,417,000 NNPB AB
 6,968,000 NNPB FG

To do:

- Seek approval and sign off on proposal
- Bottle forecast with O-I glass
- Negotiations with AMCOR on bottle supply (alternate supplier)
- Check recess panel bottles
- Negotiations with AMCOR/VISY on carton re-design/re-sizing
