FRANCE'S 'BAG-IN-BOX' TREND INSPIRES REVAMP OF DE BORTOLI WINES' 2 LITRE PREMIUM RESERVE

Travel through the south of France and you'll often see wine being poured into a carafe out of a bag-in-box. Whether it is white, red or Rosé, the wines are fresh and easy-drinking. Even trendy wine bars around the globe are looking for ways of serving good wine by the glass or carafe that keeps its freshness right to the last drop.

We have recently revamped our own 2 Litre Premium Reserve bag-in-box with a contemporary look and feel. Bottle quality in a box. The favourites are still here like Chardonnay, Pinot Grigio, Sauvignon Blanc, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Shiraz.

Boxed wine in Australia has perhaps not had the greatest support in recent years but is a very versatile package and actually a terrific way to keep young wine fresh. Easy to enjoy at home and very convenient whether you are picnicking in the park or road-tripping around the country. Carafes optional!

Here are a few to whet the appetite:

Chardonnay

Fruit driven, minimal oak, easy drinking. A blend of 2016 and 2017 to give a little more complexity at this early stage. A nice little number with pulled pork sliders slathered in mayo and hot sauce.

Pinot Grigio 2017

Some of our better vineyards, half picked early and the other half picked a little later to add some more flavour to produce a light fresh style with good aromatics. Especially delicious when served with grilled tandoori chicken from the barbeque.

Sauvignon Blanc 2017

Perhaps one of the best Sauvignon vintages we have seen. Bright, gooseberry, plenty of wild herb, soft acidity. The crisp and fruity flavours are excellent paired with a fresh kale, strawberry and avocado salad.

Shiraz 2017

Lighter style but we haven't tried to extract what was never there. Just juicy red, lots of white pepper, spicy, a little perfumed and a touch of oak. This is a great smoky woodfired pizza quaffing red.

Cabernet Sauvignon 2016

Medium bodied red with hints of plum, berry, cinnamon and vanillin oak. A flavoursome, rich Cabernet Sauvignon that partners wonderfully with a juicy rack of lamb or beef stroganoff.

RRP: $14.50.
