"Deep golden in colour, concentrated and complex with a hint of understated oak. It's loaded with flavour that comes over luscious and mouth-filling. Up-front and not very subtle but delish. A small glass is all you need. Now to five years."

Huon Hooke, Good Living, Sydney Morning Herald, 29 January 2008

"The Grange of stickies is tasting better than ever. Less unctuous than previous vintages, it's better for it. There are hints of limes, cumquats, orange rind and leather wood honey and most desserts will benefit from its presence."

"De Bortoli has made Noble One into one of Australia's benchmark dessert wines through consistently strong efforts like the 2005. Scents of vanilla and cinnamon add layers of complexity to the dried apricot and orange marmalade flavors. Medium-bodied and sweet, with a long finish, pair it like you would any fine Sauternes."

Joe Czerwinski, Wine Enthusiast (USA), 15 December 2007
